The State Emergency Operations Center: Watching, Waiting, and Activated Presenters: Charles Deasy and Richard Cogliano, Vermont Emergency Management Sessions: Friday, September 7, 10:00 a.m. – 10:45 a.m. Saturday, September 8, 9:00 a.m. - 9:45 a.m.	This session will provide an overview of how the State Emergency Operations Center operates and activates. The session will discuss the role of the Watch Officer then transition to what does the State Emergency Operations Center do and when is it activated? Participants will gain insight into the various activation levels and how the State EOC is set up to support local operations during times of disaster. Real world examples of incidents and how they were handled after the initial call will be discussed.
FEMA Public Assistance -- What Towns Need to Know Presenters: Ben Rose and Kim Canarecci, Vermont Emergency Management Sessions: Friday, September 7, 10:00 a.m. - 10:45 a.m. Friday, September 7, 11:00 a.m. – 11:45 a.m.	Introduction to the FEMA Public Assistance program for those who have not been through a federally-declared disaster before; and a chance for those who have been through the process to discuss and share lessons learned and best practices.
Transition from Command to Coordination: How does the IC work with the EOC? Presenter: Richard Cogliano, Vermont Emergency Management Session: Friday, September 7, 11:00 a.m. – 11:45 a.m.	All emergencies start local, and typically start small. As they get bigger, more resources are called in, more people start working in response, and management of the incident becomes more complex. Most first responders understand the Incident Command System and most Emergency Management Directors know how to open an Emergency Operations Center, but at what point to their activities work in tandem? This session will briefly cover the roles and responsibilities of Incident Commanders and Emergency Operations Centers and how they can work together to manage emergencies both large and small.
Incident Plans: Two Short Formats Presenter: Glenn Herrin, Vermont Emergency Management	This session introduces two short formats for developing and recording municipal incident plans, using a Synchronization Matrix and an Incident Briefing form. These are efficient tools for developing an operational framework for specific hazards such as a flood, ice storm, pandemic, HAZMAT spill, etc. Plans

Session: Friday, September 7, 12:45 p.m. – 1:30 p.m.	in these formats are an efficient way to expand Local Emergency Management Plans (LEMPs) with more comprehensive incident annexes without spending a lot of time on unknowable situation-dependent details.
The Connecticut Long Term Care Mutual Aid Plan and the March 2017 Evacuation of a New Haven, CT Nursing Home Presenter: Andrew D. McGuire, BS, EMT-P Sessions: Friday, September 7, 12:45 p.m. – 1:30 p.m. Friday, September 7, 1:45 p.m. – 2:30 p.m.	When a sprinkler pipe burst above the main electrical panel room of a 226-bed nursing home in New Haven, CT, no one imagined what the next 24 hours would be like in terms of the emergency response and recovery efforts. The Connecticut Long Term Care Mutual Aid Plan was activated and 177 residents were successfully evacuated and relocated to 17 area nursing homes. Through on scene coordination and standing up of the regional Long-Term Care Coordinating Center, appropriate beds and transportation were identified and thus began the largest single nursing home evacuation in the history of the state. The pre-planning for facility evacuations through the Long-Term Care Mutual Aid Plan enabled area facilities and emergency responders to work together to safely relocate all the residents. Like all major incidents, there were many areas for plan and facility improvements identified during the event and the ongoing recovery that ensued.
Vermont Association of Emergency Management - Next Steps Presenters: Doug Babcock, St. Michael’s College and Zack Borst, University of Vermont Sessions: Friday, September 7, 12:45 p.m. – 1:30 p.m. Friday, September 7, 1:45 p.m. – 2:30 p.m.	We will review the progress toward establishing an independent association for emergency management in Vermont and collaborate about next steps.
Active School Shooter Prevention and Response Presenter: Chief Gary L. Taylor, St Albans Public Safety Director Session: Friday, September 7, 1:45 p.m. – 2:30 p.m.	This is a program that was created to educate and empower Vermonters with (tried and true) information about what they can do to protect themselves and their family members in the event they are confronted with an Active Shooter or Violent Threat situation, regardless of where they incident occurs. This program combines 3 easy-to-remember concepts from established national public safety programs: See Something, Say Something; Run, Hide, Fight; and Stop the Bleed.
The Vermont Hazardous Commodity Flow Study Presenter: Victoria Littlefield, Two-Rivers Ottauquechee Regional Planning	This study, which conducted over a two-year time period, looked at how hazardous materials are transported on our roads and railways in Vermont. Extensive data was collected to determine what commodities are coming into Vermont via

Sessions: Friday, September 7, 2:45 p.m. – 3:30 p.m. Friday, September 7, 3:45 p.m. – 4:30 p.m.	interstates, state highways, secondary roads, and railroads. The focus of this study is to inform first responders to prepare for emergencies and where to focus their efforts.
All-Hazards ICS in a Politically Charged Environment Presenter: Matthew Romei, Vermont Capital Police Sessions: Friday, September 7, 2:45 p.m. – 3:30 p.m. Friday, September 7, 3:45 p.m. – 4:30 p.m..	Overview of the All-Hazards Planning Process that takes place in the Capitol Complex several times a year - including 7 Law Enforcement Agencies, 3 Fire Departments, A Fast Squad, State HazMat, National Guard Civil Support Team, VEM, VIC, FBI, BATFE, AOT, and how everyone comes together and makes it happen. This presentation will focus on the March for Our Lives event, in which a 40+ page operations plan was crafted and executed, including a partial activation of the SEOC.

Is your community hosting a public event that hazardous weather could quickly turn into an emergency? This presentation is geared toward building partnerships, being prepared and how to stay informed of hazardous weather.
FirstNet Demonstration Presenters: Terry LaValley, Radio Technology Services Director, Vermont Department of Public Safety; Bruce Fitzgerald, FirstNet Principal Consultant, AT&T; Michael Varney, Region 1 Lead, FirstNet Sessions: Friday, September 7, 3:45 p.m. – 4:30 p.m. Saturday, September 8, 9:00 a.m. - 9:45 a.m.	Build-out of the first high-speed nationwide broadband network dedicated to public safety has begun in Vermont and throughout the U.S. The network is called FirstNet and is being built by AT&T. In this session, a demonstration will include how the cellular network can be used in remote areas, how its more robust capacity will facilitate larger data streams, and how the developing Push-to-Talk over cellular works. Explore how first responders in Vermont may be able to use new applications for a more effective emergency response.
Complexities of Managing Multi-Jurisdictional Environmental Disasters Presenter: Trevor Denney, Regional Field Manager Colorado Division of Homeland Security and Emergency Management Sessions: Saturday, September 8, 9:00 a.m. - 9:45 a.m. Saturday, September 8, 10:00 a.m.-10:45 a.m.	The 2015 Gold King Mine release put a spotlight on the complexities surrounding the management of multijurisdictional HazMat spills that impact our watersheds. This interactive presentation will take an in-depth look at the successes and challenges that resulted from the Gold King Mine spill in Southwest Colorado. The main objectives of this session will be to provide guidance and have discussion regarding the various roles and responsibilities of the various regulatory agencies that manage our waterways. In addition, we will discuss the importance of local governments to lean forward on managing information and coordinating incidents within their communities regardless of cause.

Community Emergency Preparedness Presenter: Richard Cogliano, Vermont Emergency Management Session: Saturday, September 8, 10:00 a.m.-10:45 a.m.	This session was developed in response to a citizen organization asking for how neighborhoods can better prepare for disaster. This program will provide Local Emergency Management Directors and community members with ideas on how to foster a community based approach to citizen preparedness. By providing citizens with information on how to prepare themselves, their families, and their neighbors, we can make a more resilient community and State.
The Impacts of Ice Jams across Vermont Presenter: Jessica Niles, National Weather Service Session: Saturday, September 8, 10:00 a.m.-10:45 a.m.	An explanation and review of ice jams that impacted Vermont during January and February 2018. Discuss associated impacts.
Moving Beyond the Traditional School Lockdown Presenter: Rob Evans, Margolis Healey Session: Saturday, September 8, 11:00 a.m. -11:45 a.m.	The intent of the presentation is to educate and inform the participants on the emerging trends and best practices when responding to an active shooter/violent intruder. The presentation will cover, past/present/future tactics and training around this issue and discuss response strengths and gaps.
Defense Support to Civilian Authorities - Federal Military Assistance Presenters: Colonel Eric Pauer, Air Force Emergency Preparedness Liaison Officer; Colonel David Foster, Army Emergency Preparedness Liaison Officer; Captain Michael Flatley, Navy Emergency Preparedness Liaison Officer; Sergeant First Class Kezia Hoff, Army Emergency Preparedness Liaison Officer Sessions: Saturday, September 8, 11:00 a.m. -11:45 a.m. Saturday, September 8, 12:00 p.m. - 1:30 p.m.	Discussion of how active duty and reserve military forces can assist Vermont in a large-scale emergency, including the role of the Defense Coordinating Officer and Emergency Preparedness Liaison Officers (EPLOs) from the Army, Air Force, and Navy in facilitating assistance.
